

Abstract

Methods and reagents for determining sequence variants present at the TCF-1 locus, which facilitates identifying individuals at risk for Th1 diseases, such as type 1
5 diabetes or multiple sclerosis, or Th2 diseases, such as allergic asthma or atopy.